Whipping Boy

Lagwagon

Now it's simple to me Sometimes you have to let go when there's Next to nothing You say yes everytime she says no There's more pain then love It comes to shove almost Everytime you speak Somehow you fight Something's just crazy Somehow it's taking all the life left in you You're losing ground Carrying that torch Your not asking for much As she has had time to heal And she doesn't need you any longer And you had time to drink And you call her to tell her you've gotten much stronger At three in the morning she says: "Stop calling cause everyone's asleep Some of us work You're driving me crazy I learnt to get on with my life..." Now every nights friday night

You're driving me crazy
I learnt to get on with my life..."
Now every nights friday night
Picking fights with your friends
Somehow trying to make amends
So you search for comfort in a friend
It's not the same she won't understand
You both learned to think alike
So what was so wrong
Where's she tonight
Out there drinking while you're left in thinking
It's taken all the life left in...

You

You're losing ground
Carrying that torch
You're not asking for much
Still somehow
You'll wait for her
You say she'll return

But you still carry that torch That girl WHIPPING BOY!!!

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/