

Picking Up the Pieces

Alvarez Kings

It's such a silly thing she's holding all the strings to your heart
And everybody knows there's one way you will go, that's down

Look who's picking up the pieces now

And don't forget who's there when you feel downAnd it's good while it lasts

Just keep moving forward don't dwell on the past

It's true when they say

There's plenty more fishes, tomorrow's brand new dayGrow up, grow old but is there something you feel you should know?

Grow bold but is there something you feel you should know?

It's such a tricky thing she's holding all the strings to your life

And you already there's one way you will go, that's down

Look who's picking up the pieces now

And don't forget who's there when you crash downAnd it's good while it lasts

Just keep moving forward don't dwell on the past

It's true when they say

There's plenty more fishes, tomorrow's brand new dayGrow up, grow old but is there something you feel you should know?

Grow bold but is there something you feel you should know?

But is there something you feel you should know?

So many disappointments in your heart

And it was a disaster from the start

And you forgot the chemistry when you're apartIt's back to the start

It's back to the start
