Ocean

Darren Hayes

Even though I know you're gone
The memory lingers on
I see your footsteps on a sandy beach
That waves have been crashing on Danger goes where emotion flows
I wish sometimes I'd never known love
It's dangerous the way I can't move on lost and emotion
Only an ocean could know
The weight of the world on my shoulders
Thinking of you, my love
I wish I could drown out emotion
Until only the ocean knows
Walking down the boulevard
The water still calls your name
A thousand tides may rise and fall
But darlin' I feel the same
You said it's dangerous to love so deeply
I never cared I fell completely
It's dangerous the waves crash on the shore
But never repeating
Only an ocean could know
The weight of the world on my shoulders
Thinking of you, my love
I wish I could drown out emotion
Until only the ocean knows

Wash me away
Carry my heart on an ocean
Love has forsaken
Been taken to somebody else
I wish I could drown my emotions
Until only the ocean knows
And I still hear your song
It's in the call of the ocean
It has been here so long
Only an ocean could know
The weight of the world on my shoulders
Thinking of you my love

I wish I could drown out emotion
Until only the ocean knows
Wash me away
Carry my heart on an ocean
Love has forsaken
Been taken to somebody else
I wish I could drown my emotions
Until only an ocean
The weight of the world on my shoulders
Thinking of you my love
I wish I could drown out emotion
