

Anchors

Above the Underground

I was on the walk home today, where I saw a freight train crash through a board walk to the sea.
Reminding of the way things used to be, but more of you and more the way that you see things. Abandon this, your life is a lie and about to all cave in.
Abandon this,
you're left with a hole that your friends used to live in. There's still a lot there's left to know.
About letting go, so.. Hey Girl,
are you breaking any moulds.
Seems to me that you're no different from,
the ones that you call cold
(And they say)
Hey Girl,
do you think you're feeling strong because there's a seventh storey window with your name just written on (it's written on) Abandon ship;
there's a break in the bow and the water's flooding in,
Abandon ship,
take a chance with the waves before this whole thing fucking sinks. Abandon this,
your life is a lie and about to all cave in.
Abandon this,
you're left with a hole that your friends used to live in. (We've seen this all before)
Replace me with all your unused plans, your friend's bands and drunken one night stands.
(We've seen this all before)
That's all that you were ever good at, yeah, that's all you'll ever have. Hey Girl, are you breaking any moulds.
Seems to me that you're no different from,
the ones that you call cold
(And they say)
Hey Girl,
do you think you're feeling strong
because there's a seventh storey window with your name just written on (it's written on) Don't ever say that you are different, While you're bringing down everyone you know,
And it's hopeless, so goooooo (gooo) (You'll never understand why your whole life is falling in on you, you'll never understand it's what you say and what you put people through, Don't say you're different, don't say you're different.) "DON'T SAY YOU'RE DIFFERENT,
DON'T SAY YOU'RE DIFFERENT,

DON'T SAY YOU'RE DIFFERENT".
DON'T SAY YOU'RE DIFFERENT"

Lyrics provided by <https://damnllyrics.com/>