

From the Beginning of It All

Burning Point

Desperately searching for the one who could heal the wounds

...but no one to be found...

Nowhere to turn always on the run it`s a game I could only lose I thought of the better days, but you shot me down in flames

In so many ways I denied my shame...From the beginning of it all - I was too blind to see your lies
From the beginning of it all - I should`ve seen through your disguise...Needed the distance, could not get away, do you believe me

...oh no you don`t

Equal to none in this pain I feel so deep inside I thought of the better days, but you shot me down in flames

In so many ways I denied my shame...

From the beginning of it all - I was too blind to see your lies

From the beginning of it all - I should`ve seen through your disguise...
