

A New Dawn

RPWL

A new dawn of human race
A new wind that blows from the sea
 No illusion is here to stay
Our thoughts are endless and free
 No reason for cannons
 Roaring across the land
The wars in the name of some gods will never happen again
 And the spirits caged in minds
 Too much fear that makes us blind
 I call that religious
Repressing difference building walls
 No tolerance at all
 That's what I call religious
 All-too religious
A new dawn of the universe
 That gave a new age birth
 A new story to be heard
 Paradise on earth
No god who divides us all heavenly fear is gone
 It's been long long time but at last
 The world is as one
 And the spirits caged in minds
 Too much fear that makes us blind
 I call that religious
Repressing difference building walls
 No tolerance at all
 That's what I call religious
 A business rotten to the core
 To fleece the people, take control
 I call that religious
There's nothing more than just belief
 Talking advantage of your needs
 That's what I call religious

Lyrics provided by
<https://damlyrics.com/>