

Dreams V. Me

Race The Sun

we chose this path and we tread new steps a new route vowing to hike the hills and dull the edges tips blistered and calloused even though we fuel our dream eyes strained new shades of red we thought we could we'll plant our feet into the ground to never be washed away so don't back down just yet or blow this flame out we'll tend to these scars with art carved in our arms in a world too thoughtless to empty pockets for beggar's hands starving, left cold and alone and we'll chant our lungs pushed out upon those believing in this one word of mouth/we leave no one behind

Lyrics provided by <https://damnlrics.com/>