

Sunday

David Bowie

Nothing remains
We could run when the rain slows
Look for the cars or signs of life
Where the heat goes Look for the drifters
We should crawl under the bracken
Look for the shafts of light
On the road where the heat goes
Everything has changed For in truth, it's the beginning of nothing
And nothing has changed
Everything has changed For in truth, it's the beginning of an end
And nothing has changed
Everything has changed In your fear
(In your fear)
Of what we have become
(Seek only peace)
Take to the fire
(In your fear)
Now we must burn
(Seek only love)
All that you are
(In your fear)
Rise together
(Seek only peace)
Through these clouds
(In your fear)
As on wings
(In your fear) This is the trip
And this the business we take
This is our number
All my trials
Lord, will be remembered Everything has changed
