

Pray For Rain (feat. Tunde Adebimpe)

Massive Attack

In deepest hollow of our minds
A system failure left behindAnd their necks crane
As they turn to pray for rain
And their necks craneDull residue of what once was
A shattered cloud of swirling dovesAnd their eyes change
As they learn to see through flames
And their necks crane
As they turn to pray for rainTheir eyes change
As they learn to see through flames
And their necks crane
As they turn to pray for rain
Drops on rocks fall fast and fleeting
Hearts and wings commence to beating
What's unseen with all believing
Vision walls fall all recedingVision walls fall all receding
Drops on rocks come fast and fleeting
Rhythm laws unleash their meaning
Usher us into the dreamingVision walls fall all receding
Hearts and wings commence to beating
All unending, all completing
Vision walls fall fast and fleetingVision walls fall all revealing
Vision walls fall all revealing
Vision walls fall all revealing
Vision walls fall all revealing
In deepest hollow of our minds
A system failure left behind
Dull residue of what once was
A shattered cloud of swirling dovesAnd their eyes change
As they learn to see through flames
And their necks crane
As they pray for rain
