

Burning the Shroud

Aeternus

within you it lies since the rise of your time you've feared it ignored but truth never lies its existence marked at the birth of time the darkness inside the shadows that dance in your soul to deny is to fear embrace the darkness within it lies the harmonious truth reveal in its power a voyage into the cave of shadows yields the jewels of knowledge and wisdom and the silver moon does not the night enchant your being the caressing whisper of the night no harm will come to those who are true of heart stare into the black embrace the sight deepened with wisdom look to the sun and the brightness shall blind you accept the reality of darkness free your consciousness achieve the empowerment it has never been a place of dread is given to those who seek knowledge and wisdom of endless mysterious nights
