

Go Dreaming (Mantronix Remix)

Dido

Another summer coming to an end
And I'm still walking on without a care
And even if the birds have flown, the sun has gone
I'll still be here, here Oh, I want to walk with kings
Oh, and take a chance on things
And though I may give way to those who could cause me pain
And step aside to threats and bullies
I still believe, I still believe I'd rather go dreaming, believing in something, better than in me
I'd rather die loving, and lost in the feeling of letting go
I'd rather die caring, working for something, seeing it as good
I can let it go, I can let it go They're all flying flags and making noise
Bringing on their speeches drinks and boys
But when they're gone I'll be standing here
And picking up the mess they left
I still believe, I still believe I'd rather go dreaming, believing in something, better than in me
I'd rather die loving, and lost in the feeling of letting go
I'd rather die caring, and working for something, seeing it as good I can let it go,
I can let it go
I can let it go
I can let it go
I can let it go
I can let it go
I can let it go I'd rather go dreaming, believing in something, better than in me
I'd rather die loving, and lost in the feeling of letting go
I'd rather die caring, and working for something, seeing it as good I can let it go
I can let it go (I can let it go, I can let it go)

Songwriters

Nowels, Rick / Armstrong, Dido Published by

Lyrics © Sony/ATV Music Publishing LLC, Warner/Chappell Music, Inc. Song Discussions is protected by U.S.
Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnyrics.com/>