Starlite

Paul Weller

The sound of thunder on the ocean when the darken rise
Sunlight are too nice, the sun and kisses on the far off shoreStarlite are too nice, such faces in such a place to be
Starlite are too nice, such faces in such a place to beSome raindrops that glistened after downpour on a summer's day
A smoke fire, a love fight, a... in the further fields
Starlite are too nice, such faces and a place to be Starlite are too nice, such faces and a place to beThe whisper around us
I have this feeling of the roots of stars
The deeper breath and they collide
Take my hand and walk back to the carStarlite are too nice, such faces in such a place to be Starlite are too nice, such faces in such a place to be Starlite are too nice, such faces in such a place to be
Starlite are too nice, such faces in such a place to beMy heart smiles, I'm happy again
