Rust

Joyless

(Bipolar community, The world is a therapy ..)
(Bipolar community, The world is a therapy ..)

You asked me why we rust
It's your fatigue way of detoxifying our magnetic device
Maybe we should have made the leap together
Then we would be one forever
Artificial bones and engineered cancer cells
Static love, electric devices

You asked me why we cry
A condition that persists through lives
With flu-like symptoms fly, and frequently a shot of Venus
May we stabalise ..
For next morning we shall no longer be alive .. be alive

(Bipolar community, The world is a therapy ..)
(Bipolar community, The world is a therapy ..)

How do magnets heal?
When everything is so real
Mental dysfunction, melancholia as life's disease takes its full swing
Pulsating waves of fractured magnitudes have long inflicted you and me
Broken parts, broken hopes, broken chips, broken bones
Broken dreams, broken beings,
Broken everything ...

Lyrics submitted by joyless.

Lyrics provided by
https://damnlyrics.com/