See You In Heaven

Guardian

It's hard to say goodbye, my friend, but this waiting can't last forever; sooner or later the sun must set ending this time together. i wish that i had one more chance to spend another day with you, and even though i know i can
i'll see you in heaven.

The only thing that hurts more than losing you are all of the years of living without you.

I wanna run back to you
and show you the life i've lived without you,

'cause living without you is the only thing that hurts
more than you.

I see a picture of a little child, standing alone, wondering where you are.
i can't believe how this child has grown, living this life, sometimes so alone.
wishing i had one more chance to have you hold me once again, now even though i know you can you'll hold me in heaven.

The only thing that hurts more than losing you
are all of the years of living without you.

I wanna run back to you
and show you the life i've lived without you,

'cause living without you is the only thing that hurts
more than you.

I've let so many years of life go by thinking it's all worked out.
Now i realize i do now to say that it's over and let you go for now.

Still, i wish that i had one more chance to say i love you one more time,
and even though i know i can i'll say it in heaven.

The only thing that hurts more than losing you
are all of the years of living without you.

I wanna run back to you
and show you the life i've lived without you,

The only thing that hurts more than losing you
are all of the years of living without you.

I wanna run back to you
and show you the life i've lived without you,

'cause living without you is the only thing that hurts
more than you.

I'll see you in heaven . . .

Lyrics submitted by Leo.

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/