

Hurray for One Good Eye

Nakatomi Plaza

kick out the knees that hold me up poke my head around the corner and pull back chipping away at my resolve keeps me grounded where i stand the future is boundless in this fishbowl so we'll shine mock heroic roll on waves of conviction orchestrate this subversion cause we've only got one shot and it's all so big so show me something that i couldn't predict tonight is the beginning of the end walking with the blinders on not stopping for anyone late nights we crawl inside the machine you see what i breathe but still you can settle abort mission. drop the match as if it was ours all along to detach bucking a trend of decline pledging allegiance to our own design.
Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnyrics.com/>