Dive Into My Sun

Citizen

Forced to get used to a habit
Stab the face of who you think you are
I'll embed my world in cement
I shook the hand of all my wants
Steal my words"Dive into my sun. I was once your mother, but I have come undone."
I'm conditioned well
A sliver from my lovers, something I hold on toPush your nightmare into my brain
Deface my youth for what you want
I'll throw my bricks into fragile cells
Suppress the ones you love to overcomeLie to me
Damage me
