

The More She Burns the More Beautiful She Glows

Jim Jarmusch

"The soul is invigorated
and completely restored as He pours the sparkling red wine into Her red mouth.
No matter how softly he caresses Her
He inflicts intense pain.
He caresses her as well as He can on the bed of Love.
Then She rises to the height of bliss and to the most exquisite pain and She becomes truly intimate with Him in this most dazzling light She becomes blind in the sun the more ardent She remains the sooner She bursts into flames
the more She burns the more beautifully She glows
the wounds pour forth the breasts flow
the deeper Her wounds become the more violently She struggles the higher She soars, the more She consumes, the more She has
She is wounded to death by the beam of His fiery light
Her spirit raised aloft, all earthly senses the longer She is dead the more blissfully She remains"
"The more She burns the more beautifully She glows"
by Jim Jarmusch ft. Tilda Swinton Based on a text by XIII century mystic Mechthild of Magdeburg Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>