

Love Is Like a Spinning Wheel

Elephant Stone

I could never read you
Love, you think I'm much too kind
Do you ever say how you feelTrying to control it
Love is like a spinning wheel
Slowing down would only reveal itIn the end everything falls apart
When you love somebody that's not in your heart
Keeping it together's the hardest part
When you find yourself losing the one that's not for love
I would never have it
Would you ever let me go
In your heart do you think soI don't think you feel it
Love should be something more
In your heart you know it's just for showIn the end everything falls apart
When you love somebody that's not in your heart
Keeping it together's the hardest part
When you find yourself losing the one that's not for loveIn the end everything falls apart
When you love somebody that's not in your heart
Keeping it together's the hardest part
When you find yourself losing the one that's not for love
In the end everything falls apart
When you love somebody that's not in your heart
Keeping it together's the hardest part
When you find yourself losing the one that's not for love

Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by
<https://damnlrics.com/>