Locust

Machine Head

Sweet caress grazes my skin

It's loveless, these hooks sink in

Behind an angel's disguise, an insect preys

Mandibles cut like a knife, the reckoningForming clouds, their shadow shrouds

Louder the tattered wings they sound

Descending downDown they come, the swarm of locusts

Skies above converge to choke us

Feast of souls consume the harvest

Young and old, suffer unto the locustSurrender, these veins are bled

Devoured, nothing sacred

Strings pull the marionettes

See how they dance upon the winds that beget our pestilenceForming clouds, their shadow shrouds

Louder the tattered wings they sound

Descending downDown they come, the swarm of locusts

Skies above converge to choke us

Feast of souls consume the harvest

Young and old, suffer unto the locustBleeding from my eyes, this plague is sent to erase us

Bleeding from inside, these vermin can't infiltrate usFaith appears, and holds a candle

Hark, the angels singForming clouds, their shadow shrouds

Louder the tattered wings they soundTear the veil, the lies derail

Purity ever will prevail

Trumpets sound the shattered crown

Halos of truth now they surround

The charade comes downDown they come, the swarm of locusts

Skies above converge to choke us

Feast of souls consume the harvest

Young and old, (suffer unto the locust)Down they come, the swarm of locusts

Skies above converge to choke us

Feast of souls consume the harvest

Young and old, suffer unto the locust
