

Hymn for the Wretched

The Black Dahlia Murder

We are the blackness of the night cold wind that cuts your flesh
We are the enemy praying for your certain death
We are what was, will be forevermore
In the stillest hours we awaken, enshrouded in the darkChildren of the blackest seed
Reared on murder and deceit
We are the thorns of human woe
His will be doneTo the humble maggots to the putrid flies
Where death and hatred lurk we shall survive
To the diseases to the sharpest knives
When daybreak no more comes we shall ariseWe are the sickness, the stench of the deceased
Your father's secret shame our violent wrath shall be unleashed
We feast on blood and the weakness of your kind
From the haunted depths we have arisen to slither as the snakeChildren of the blackest seed
Reared on murder and deceit
We are the thorns of human woe
His will be doneTo the humble maggots to the putrid flies
Where death and hatred lurk we shall survive
To the diseases to the sharpest knives
When daybreak no more comes we shall ariseLurking legion of the obscene
Unheard forever in between
Unbound
The liars in wait our being you forsakeWhispers upon the winds, profane
Unheard, the wretched and the insane
Unbound, forgotten, ignored
The ugliness abhorredThe razor, the bullet, the length of rope
Our tools are numerous, our hatred overflows
The razor, the bullet, the length of rope
A lapse of sanity plummets to earth belowWe are the blackness of the night cold wind that cuts your flesh
We are the enemy praying for your certain death
We are what was, will be forevermore
In the stillest hours we awaken, enshrouded in the darkLurking legion of the obscene
Unheard forever in between
Unbound
The liars in wait our being you forsakeWhispers upon the winds, profane
Unheard, the wretched and the insane
Unbound, forgotten, ignored
The ugliness abhorredWe are the sliver in your God's feeble hand
During the silent hours, the shadows we command
We're the undying insect, from the deepest cracks we came

For aeon's we have lurked and for aeon's we shall remain
