Hymn for the Wretched

The Black Dahlia Murder

We are the blackness of the night cold wind that cuts your flesh

We are the enemy praying for your certain death

We are what was, will be forevermore

In the stillest hours we awaken, enshrouded in the darkChildren of the blackest seed

Reared on murder and deceit

We are the thorns of human woe

His will be done To the humble maggets to the putrid flies

Where death and hatred lurk we shall survive

To the diseases to the sharpest knives

When daybreak no more comes we shall ariseWe are the sickness, the stench of the deceased

Your father's secret shame our violent wrath shall be unleashed

We feast on blood and the weakness of your kind

From the haunted depths we have arisen to slither as the snakeChildren of the blackest seed

Reared on murder and deceit

We are the thorns of human woe

His will be done To the humble maggots to the putrid flies

Where death and hatred lurk we shall survive

To the diseases to the sharpest knives

When daybreak no more comes we shall ariseLurking legion of the obscene

Unheard forever in between

Unbound

The liars in wait our being you forsakeWhispers upon the winds, profane

Unheard, the wretched and the insane

Unbound, forgotten, ignored

The ugliness abhorredThe razor, the bullet, the length of rope

Our tools are numerous, our hatred overflows

The razor, the bullet, the length of rope

A lapse of sanity plummets to earth belowWe are the blackness of the night cold wind that cuts your flesh

We are the enemy praying for your certain death

We are what was, will be forevermore

In the stillest hours we awaken, enshrouded in the darkLurking legion of the obscene

Unheard forever in between

Unbound

The liars in wait our being you forsakeWhispers upon the winds, profane

Unheard, the wretched and the insane

Unbound, forgotten, ignored

The ugliness abhorredWe are the sliver in your God's feeble hand

During the silent hours, the shadows we command

We're the undying insect, from the deepest cracks we came

For aeon's we have lurked and for aeon's we shall remain
