Thanksgiving Day

Ray Davies

Are you going on Thanksgiving Day
To those family celebrations?
Passing on knowledge down through the years
At the gathering of generationsEvery year it's the same routine
All over, all over
Come on over, it's the Thanksgiving DayPapa looks over at the small gathering Remembering days gone by
Smiles at the children as he watches them play
And wishes his wife was still by his sideShe would always cook dinner on Thanksgiving Day
It's all over, it's all over, it's all over the American way
But sometimes the children are so far awayAnd in a dark apartment on the wrong side of town
A lonely spinster prays
For a handsome lover and a passionate embrace
And kisses all over, all over, all over her American face
It's all over, it's all over, it's all over'Cause today she feels so far away
From the friends in her hometown
So she runs for the Greyhound
She'll spend hours on the bus
But she'll reach town for Thanksgiving DayCome on over, come on over
Come on over, it's Thanksgiving Day
Come on over, come on over
Come on over, come on over
Come on over, it's Thanksgiving DayAt a truck stop a man sits alone at the bar
Estranged in isolation
It's been a while now and he seems so far
From those distant celebrationsHe thinks back to all the mistakes that he made
To a time when he was so young and green
Innocent days when they both looked forward to that Great American dreamNow it's all over, it's all over, all over
And all over America people are going home
On Thanksgiving DayNow Papa looks out of the window
The sight brings a smile to his face
He sees all his children coming back home
Together on this special dayCome on over, come on over
Come on over, it's Thanksgiving Day
Come on over, come on over
Come on over, it's Thanksgiving DayCome on over, come on over
Come on over, it's Thanksgiving Day
Come on over, come on over

Come on over, it's Thanksgiving Day
