

Blackest Skyline

Sylosis

Hordes thrown into chaos with nowhere to be safe
You pushed aside your fellow man enough for your escape
There is no light to see beyond the blackest skyline
First the sound approaches, then the lightning strikes
Lie to your self to mask the fears of the unknown
Punish yourself until you've no where to call home
And somewhere inside lies a shadow of the creature you hide

The end is now in progress, a fatal last mistake
You left behind your fellow man and now have no escape
There is no light to see beyond the blackest skyline
First the sound approaches, then the lightning strikes
Lie to yourself and never see the thing you are Punish yourself until your failure is a scar
And somewhere inside lies a shadow of the creature you hide
Destroying yourself to purify

To rebuild, we must first destroy

Now the Earth has no foundations
Bodies crumble into the black abyss
They hear the sound of weeks (I can't distinguish what he says here)

There is no light to see beyond the blackest skyline
Foundations shake, beneath the shadows
As the gods reign down on us

And somewhere inside lies a shadow of the creature you hide
Destroying yourself to purify powered by damnlyrics.com

written by MIDDLETON, JOSH / GRAHAM, JAMIE Lyrics Â© Lyrics Â© Warner/Chappell Music, Inc.

Lyrics submitted by Ryan.

Lyrics provided by <https://damnlyrics.com/>