

Stompa (DJ LackSwag Remix)

Serena Ryder

There's a light, and I can see it in your eyes
There's a memory of the way you used to be Nothing's gone, it still shines, every time you turn it on
And when you slow it down...People working every night and day
    Never give yourself no time
    Got too many bills to pay
    Slow down, nothing's gonna disappear
    If you give yourself some room
    To move to the music you hearGotta get up, listen to me
Clappa your hands, stompa your feetPeople looking for the great escape
    Looking to the greener side
    Trying to find a better way
    Slow down, open up your big brown eyes
    Feel the rhythm in your heart
You don't even need to tryGotta get up, listen to me
    Clappa your hands, stompa your feet
    Nothing is wrong, if you move to the beat
    Clappa your hands, stompa your feet
Stompa your feetWhen you can't seem to shake off all the feelings that are breaking
    Little pieces of the music that are in you
    All the pain that you feel
    I can prove it's not real
There's just one thing you gotta doGotta get up, listen to me
    Clappa your hands, stompa your feet
    Nothing is wrong, if you move to the beat
    Clappa your hands, stompa your feet
    Stompa your feetStompa your feet
    Stompa your feet
