It Comes Back To You

Salvador

Here's to the man who's down and struggling
You can hold your head up high
And to the woman who finds herself wondering
Is love gonna stay or pass me by?And here's to the honest politician, yeah
Who wonders if the truth will set him free
You better use that God given intuition
And be the man God's called you to beNo, it ain't easy as it seems
But if you believeIf you plant a seed and give it time to grow
Help someone in need 'cause you'll never know
Through the words you say and everything you do
Give your love away, it comes back to you
Here's to the reverend at the rescue mission
Who doesn? t judge a man by the way things seem
And to the folks in every soup kitchen
Serving meals and healing broken dreamsAnd no, it ain't easy as it seems
But if you believeIf you plant a seed and give it time to grow
Help someone in need 'cause you'll never know
Through the words you say and everything you do
Give your love away, it comes back to youIt's simple as one, two, three
Better to give than receive
Just like you learned your a, b, c
It's a lesson for you and meIt's simple as one, two, three
Better to give than receive
Just like you learned your a, b, c
It's a lesson for you and me
No, it ain't easy as it seems
But if you believeAnd if you plant a seed and give it time to grow
Help someone in need 'cause you'll never know
In the words you say and everything you do
Give your love away, it comes back to youIf you plant a seed and give it time to grow
And help someone in need 'cause you'll never know
In the words you say and everything you do
Give your love away, it comes back to you
