

Passenger

Lisa Hannigan

Walking 'round Chicago
I have smuggled you as cargo
Though you are far away unknowing
By the time we get to salt lake
I have packed you in my suitcase
Iron the creases from my own remembering She said "Bird.. oh woah"
And I said "Bird.. oh woah" We wound our way to Texas
And I summoned rumbled hexes
And I sent them across dust and oceans
In Phoenix, Arizona I had a notion I might phone ya
But there it lived and died a notion She said "Bird.. oh woah"
And I said "Bird.. oh woah" Oh my satellite
Oh my passenger We came upon Ohio
I have you chewed on like a biro
You are a sum I am no closer to deciphering
We came to minneapolis
All fizzy blood and twitchy fists
I buried you in a day of snowing She said "Bird.. oh woah"
And I said "Bird.. oh woah" Oh my satellite
Oh my passenger
Oh my satellite
Oh my passenger
