

Tuesday Night

Adam Hood

I'm always hoping for a good time, never happens on a Tuesday night.
two weeks and im here in the same place, the same rythim for most of my life.

My head's aching from everyone's cigarettes, my hand's hurting from the steel strings
Five hours and it never did bother me, I was the only one listening

My life should drive me crazy, living everyday like I do
I'm so glad for someone like you I can come home to

I've spent my whole life searching for, a road taking me everywhere
Now I want to spend some time with you baby, but it's so hard when I'm never there

It takes everything to follow my heart and, sometimes I'm so afraid
But if my life ever does hurt you baby, I'll pull the breaks and stop the train

I know we're tired and lonely, love is gonna pull us through Im so glad there's someone like you i can come home to

My life should drive me crazy, livin' every day like i do
I know we're tired and lonely, love is gonna pull us through

Im so glad there's someone like you i can come home to Girl, I'm so glad there's someone like you i can come home to Lyrics submitted by Sara.

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnlyrics.com/>