Forget to Learn

Choke

frayed laces rake lines onto the tile i'll circle this four walled room but my fate's one step ahead an arrangement and it changes as the day fades can't trace these thoughtsdissolve all the rust worn gears turn slow a chain reactionfall's somber, it's gripping cold embrace split water will find its way through the cracks and freeze again and the rain shifts, undetermined on swollon ground bridge gaps, move onI'm running straight through these are things that you,ll never know I'm staring straight through these are things that you'll never know and forget to learn
