

My Heart Goes With You

Lisa Maxwell

See the sun's last glimmering ray
Fading fast to end our day
Though I long for you to stay
Spirits call and you obey

You'll fly far from me
Though in truth you're still home
Sail across the sea
Nature blooms where you roam

When trees grow
And leaves show
My heart goes with you.

Hear the hush when'ere you sigh
Sorrow weeps down from the sky
Though we've whispered our good-bye
Everywhere you go am I.

From this life you'll flee
As the draft grow so cold
Oh, and now you're free
Feel the future unfold.

As winds blow
The breeze shows
My heart goes with you
When streams flow
All shores know
My heart goes with you.

You'll fly far from me
Though in truth you're still home
Sail across the sea
Nature blooms where you roam.

When trees grow
The leaves know
My heart goes with you
When trees grow

The leaves know
My heart goes with you
