

Love Profound

Susan Ashton

Our love knows no limits
And our love knows no bounds
Hear it ring through the hills and canyons
Isn't love profound? It shows us the life that we know we can live
It teaches us how to forget and forgive
It gives us the harvest from sweet mercy fields
It rescues, it nurtures, it calms and it heals'Cause our love knows no limits
And our love knows no bounds
Oh, it confounds the wisest of sages
Isn't love profound? Oh, it sings when we're weary from so many tears
And rocking us gently it cradles our fears
In those times when we feel like we've come to our end
It gives us the strength to start over againCause our love knows no limits
And our love knows no bounds
It will stand even tried by fire
Isn't love profound? Our love knows no limits
And our love knows no bounds
Hear it ring through the hills and canyons
Isn't love profound? Baby, isn't love profound?
