The Grey Man

Captain Gravel

Don't worry now, it's all erased
Burn to grey and white
Your fireproof heart was never wasted
And steady all the while, so you say
Don't worry now, it's all come back
Colorless as night
You'll be there, you'll see her face
And hear her all the while
By the time you find your way
You've gotta run right back to the start
Don't think you're lost
You're gonna run right back to the start
And when you finally think it's gone
You're gonna run right back to her arms
Don't worry now, it's all erased
Burn to grey and white
Tell yourself you don't still taste her
Or hear her through the night
By the time you find your way
You've gotta run right back to the start
Don't think you're lost
You're gonna run right back to the start
And when you finally think it's gone
You're gonna run right back to her arms
Run, run fast enough to lose yourself
Our legs were straight but only move in circles
By the time you find your way
You've gotta run right back to the start
Don't think you're lost
You're gonna run right back to the start
And when you finally think it's gone
You're gonna run right back to the start
You're gonna run right back to the start
You're gonna run right back to the start
You're gonna run right back to her arms
