Entwined

Misteltein

Entwined, all that we are is defined
By each others shipwrecked hearts and I
Shiver to think what would have been if
I wouldn't have seen you in time
Would we pass by?
Like parachutes and air balloons
Or satellites and lonely moons
We'd still be drifting far apart
But thank the stars we are entwined
All that you are is mine
Your divine imperfections color the dark
And I shiver to see how fragile you are
When the world's such a cruel place to be
Then you cut me free
Like parachutes and air balloons
Satellites and lonely moons
We'd still be drifting far apart
But thank the stars we are entwined
Let's walk the tightrope together
Without a safety net
And when we fall and we will fall
Let's fall forever entwined
Like parachutes and air balloons
Satellites and lonely moons
We'd still be drifting far apart
Like parachutes and air balloons
Or satellites and lonely moons
We'd still be drifting far apart
But thank the stars we are, we are entwined
Entwined
