An Apology

So They Say

Constant slow moving ocean
Can you hear me? Do you fear me?
Can witches' magic potions ever cure me?
And make heaven seem so dangerous, but so safeCould wind blow through the trees?
And make light seem dangerous
But safe for now until you're lying down
(Till your lying down)All I want, all I need, all I'm asking from you
Is an apology for taking away, everything that I thought
That would always be here right in front of me
Is not just like youThe tide is high
The shore is getting anxious
The rocks are lying down like you did
So dangerous, but so safeCould wind blow through the trees?
And make light seem dangerous
But safe for now until you're lying down
(Till your lying down)All I want, all I need, all I'm asking from you
Is an apology for taking away, everything that I thought
That would always be here right in front of me
Is not just like youI got the words right
But I couldn't say it
Say it to youI got the words right
But I couldn't say it
Say it to youI got the words right
But I couldn't say it
Say it to youI got the words right
But I couldn't say itAll I want, all I need, all I'm asking from you
Is an apology for taking away, everything that I thought
That would always be here right in front of me
Is not just like youAll I'm asking from you
Is an apology
An apology, oh, an apology

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/