

If Jesus Walked The World Today

Alan Jackson

If Jesus walked the world today he'd probably be a hillbilly
Common man of men and the king of many
He'd lay his hands on his brother man, save us all from sinning
If Jesus walked the world today he'd probably be a hillbilly
If was here today I bet he'd drive a Chevrolet
Working at the plant and drawing worker's pay
He'd preach in some little country church outside of the city
If Jesus walked the world today he'd probably be a hillbilly
If Jesus walked the world today he'd probably be a hillbilly
Common man of men and the king of many
He'd lay his hands on his brother man, save us all from sinning
If Jesus walked the world today he'd probably be a hillbilly
His long hair and sandaled feet would be in style
Surround himself with the good ol' boys to tell his tale
He'd have a mighty cross tattoo
On his hands by the nail holes that killed him
If Jesus walked the world today he'd probably be a hillbilly
If Jesus walked the world today he'd probably be a hillbilly
Common man of men and the king of many
He'd lay his hands on his brother man, save us all from sinning
If Jesus walked the world today he'd probably be a hillbilly
Well, some folks would say it wasn't really him
You know they'd probably send him off to some kind of loony bin
They wouldn't hang him on the cross
But they'd find some way to condemn him
If Jesus walked the world today he'd probably be a hillbilly
If Jesus walked the world today he'd probably be a hillbilly
Common man of men and the king of many
He'd lay his hands on his brother man, save us all from sinning
If Jesus walked the world today he'd probably be a hillbilly
Yeah, he'd be a hillbilly
I bet Jesus'd be a hillbilly
Oh, you know he'd be hillbilly
(Hillbilly, if Jesus walked the world today)

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>