

Fool's Game

Richard Marx

Fool's game to risk perfection
Out here alone on a wire
Unsuspecting victim of desire You wear a thousand faces
A master of disguise
And I'm addicted to the madness in your eyes You will always be the one I dream about
And I know my heart won't beat the same again
You will always be the shadow of a doubt
Now I go crazy wondering what we might have been Your charms made me suffer
Why do I care where you are?
I'm afraid my dignity has strayed too far Can't read what you're writing
Unable to make the call
Do you want me desperately
Or not at all? You will always be the one I dream about
And I know my heart won't beat the same again
You will always be the one I dream about
Now I go crazy wondering what we might have been Can't read what you're writing
Unable to make the call
Do you want me desperately
Or not at all? You will always be the one I dream about
And I know my heart won't beat the same again
You will always be the shadow of a doubt
Now I go crazy wondering what we might have been
Now I go crazy wondering what we might have been
I go crazy wondering what we might have been
No, no

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnlyrics.com/>