

Out To Sea

Lera Lynn

Take me to the lens to bay
Let the one whose we shot today
Well this is all a dream, and I'll let it all go
Tell me how I should decide
The face of a man who will drive this way
And fear old man me, let it all go I wish I may, I wish I might
Ride this wave to morning light
Got me off at first surely my head down
They say life's more than what we see
And surely in death there too will be
Just give me one chance,
More to lay my head down The road so short and the jump so high
And falling sounds like a lullaby
The weight of all I know, let it all go
The fragile land on which we dance
The thread of life, life ducked to chance
But they never know, let it all go I wish I may, I wish I might
Ride this wave to morning light
Got me off at first surely my head down
They say life's more than what we see
And surely in death there too will be
Just give me one chance,
More to lay my head down And you should push me OUT TO SEA
Darling won't you breathe in me, breathe The road so short and the jump so high
And falling sounds like a lullaby
The road so short and the jump so high
And falling sounds like a lullaby
The road so short and the jump so high
And falling sounds like a lullaby
They say life's more than what we see
And surely in death there too will be

Songwriters

BUETTNER, LERA LYNN Published by Lyrics © Universal Music Publishing Group

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>