Deine Lakaien

Ignored her anxious eyes
Zippered his pants
One of his routine lies Took her hands
I MUST BE OFF
She was the only one Short before closing
He was the drunken one Without looking
No time for scuffLord you gave us mother nature that gave us the right to hate you we found out what we were made from we set out create a better one
She was not the pretty one Remained alone
And when her child was born Stayed on her own
And still in love
She had to rush about
Make their living
There was no time for doubts
For misgiving
Her heart in loveLord you gave us mother nature
that gave us the right to hate you
we found out what we were made from
we set out create a better one
She had to make a stop Put down her bag
This day was far too hot Must have a break
Just a silent moaning Blow at her fabula
Snatch at the handle
Thanks to you grandma Off he was Just a silent groaningLord you gave us mother nature
that gave us the right to hate you
we found out what we were made from we set out create a better oneHer genetic code

Storage room
Just a single note
On her form
Low grade and old Someone found it there Took it home
Had a bright idea
One billion clones
With a heart of gold Lord you gave us mother nature
we set out create a better one Lord you gave us mother nature
