

Said and Done

Steven Curtis Chapman

Making promises came easy
Back when they first fell in love.
They talked of how they'd share the years together;
Said we'll work it out whatever comes. I guess we never know just how it happens;
Vows forgotten that were once so true.
Holding on to broken dreams and promises,
It's time to act on what they said they would do.[Chorus]
'Cause when it's all said and done,
It's got to be all or none;
Words are no good unless they're backed with actions.
It's easier said than done; Talk of the race and never run,
But the prize belongs to those who've said and done.
Love is one of many pages
In a story only time will tell; It's a book of all the words we're saying,
Read by those who see us do as well.[Chorus] When it's all said and done,
Have you done what you said.
When it's all said and done,
Have you done what you said you would do.[Chorus]
