

Good Lovin'

Twin Peaks

Yeah!

Run out by my mama, and every girl just gives me drama.
All my friends are looking older, but you still look the same.
And I'm standing by the corner; I see you walking on by.
Asking if I'm doing fine, like you're some friend of mine. Oh, you must have lost track of time.
And yes I got your letter. I didn't think they wrote those anymore.
And no, I ain't feeling much better, but I ain't still feeling so sore.
Nobody told me, that being lonely, was fucking horrible too.
I'll be your brother, I'll be your sister.
I'll show you everything new. I'll show you everything new.
It's raining in Chicago.
The rain drops on my window.
It's been a while since we've spoken.
I guess my doorbell must be broken.
And I'm spending all my money.
I've got to get some luck on my side.
Driving in the rain, early in the morning,
with the sun rising up in the sky.
You ain't from 'round here. Why'd you come down here?
Must be a long way from home.
Forget the distance. It don't mean nothing. You're calling me from the phone.
You only call when I'm gone.

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>