Skin and Bones

Seranation

Yes I'm stuck, for all the wrong reasons

Try with all your might, can't change without believing

When I fell in love, I hit the ground so hard
Gotta get back up to protect my heart

Cause you've gotten so good at breaking it
And the truth don't lie but we're damn good at faking it

And telling ourselves that it's all right,

Cause if we disagree it's gonna be another long night

And I just keep fighting on...

In your eyes

You got the appetite

To kill me slow

Take what you need and let me go

Still alive

Something isn't right

Skin and bones

And I'm too weak to tell you no...

Crashing on the couch, but that's nothing new to me

Same routine but it's nothing like it used to be

And we could call it love but it ain't that deep,

And I could give you some but you ain't that cheap

And I know that you're wanting me to dive in

You're feeding off the drama that you make when we're fighting

And every time I let go of my pride

A little part of me dies inside

And I just keep fighting on...

In your eyes

You got the appetite

To kill me slow

Take what you need and let me go

Still alive

Something isn't right

Skin and bones

And I'm too weak to tell you no....

Every time I try to find my way out of this

I think of all the things I know that I'm gonna miss

I let you in cause I'm a sucker for your kiss

Cause I just like the taste of poison on my lips...

In your eyes

You got the appetite

To kill me slow

Take what you need and let me go

Still alive

Something isn't right

Skin and bones

And I'm too weak to tell you no

In your eyes

You got the appetite

To kill me slow

Take what you need and let me go

Still alive

Something isn't right

Skin and bones

And I'm too weak to tell you no...
