Tuesday Night

Kristin Hersh

When you sleep, you tell me off
I told you once before
I can't resist youWhen I sleep, I build you up
I make you king of here
I can't resist youI can't waitI'll suck down another water, while I wait
I watch the clock glow blue
And think of you, while I waitI can't waitThe moon shines through my dress
And through my glass I promise
Not to drink until you're homeI can't waitThe moon pales even when I thinks it holds the face of the clock
I watch for you, while I waitI can't wait
