

Everything Is Yours

Audrey Assad

When all the world is blossoming
And everything around is bursting into life
And I don't have to strain to hear the beat of Your heart
When all the world is under fire
When skies are threatening to thunder and rain
And I am overcome by fears that I can't see
If everything is Yours
Everything is Yours
If everything is Yours
I'm letting it go
No, it was never mine to hold
No, never mine
Who could command the stars to sing
Or hold the raging seas from breaking through the doors?
And tend the fragile roses with the very same hands
If everything is Yours
Everything is Yours
If everything is Yours
I'm letting it go
I am, I'm letting it go, letting go
Yeah, I'm letting it go 'Cause everything is Yours
Yeah, everything is Yours
If everything is Yours, God
And everything is Yours
If everything is Yours
I'm letting it go, let it go, let it go, let it go
It was never mine, no, no
It was never mine, never mine
[Incomprehensible] no
