Never Give All The Heart

Smash

As a girl I lived in a million homes
So I always would keep to myself
And my lessons were learned from the stories and poems
I would steal from a library shelf
Yes the books, like the rooms
Werent mine to keep
But the words werent left behind
And I think of them all now when I cant sleep
And a poet who read my mind
As the Wiseman once wrote
Never give all the heart
Well, Its easy to see he was writing for me
I just wish I could play that part
Yes, he scribbled that love
Isnt worth thinking of
That it fades out from kiss to kiss
If I just learn those lines
Well just think of the misery I'd miss
As the Irishman said
Don't put your heart up to play
When he warned of the cost
And the heart that he lost
Mr. Yeats really paved the way
For the men that I've known
Who have clearly shown
They've been reading him from the start
'Cause when it comes to me
Well, their kisses come free
But they never give all the heart
When he warned of the cost
And the heart that he lost
Mr. Yeats really paved the way
For the men that I've known
Well, they've clearly shown
They've been reading him from the start
'Cause each time that I fall
They never give all the heart
