Setting Sun

Howling Bells

Mother will look with me
Father will pray for me
Religion will wait for me
Nobody waits for this long cant you see

Doers will do for me
What sinners could never dream
Science is in your head
Nobody hurts them selves but themselves can't you tell?

Haters will love in time
And lovers will feel their crime
Patience is all you need
That and the courage it takes just to be

One more day is not enough to change the world
But we'll rise and fall just like the setting sun
One day is not enough to change
But we'll rise and fall just like the setting sun

Yes she will lead me there
And you won't be anywhere
I'll find a quiet path
Somewhere alone where the shadows won't laugh

One more day is not enough to change the world
But we'll rise and fall just like the setting sun
One way is not enough to change
But we'll rise and fall just like the setting sun

Mother will look with me
Father will pray for me
Religion will wait for me
Nobody waits for this long can't you see

Yes she will lead me there
And you won't be anywhere
I'll find a quiet path
Somewhere alone where the shadows won't laugh

One more day is not enough to change the world
But we'll rise and fall just like the setting sun
One way is not enough to change
But we'll rise and fall just like the setting sun

Lyrics powered by lyrics.tancode.com written by SIMONS, EDMUND JOHN / ROWLANDS, THOMAS OWEN MOSTYN / GALLAGHER, NOEL THOMAS Lyrics Â© Universal Music Publishing Group, CHRYSALIS MUSIC GROUP

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/