

The Horizon

Natives

When the switch has gone off in my mind,
I proved my heart is a fighter
And the light at the end of the tunnel
It's getting brighter and brighter
Cause' in a life without passion
there's no world to stand on
So I'll return to the face of the mountain

Holding tighter and tighterSo gather your thoughts, prepare for this war, the truth is your armourSinging fight for your soul, don't let it go
And never hold it back

Love till' they know, run just to show we're never holding back

The sun will go down, we're lost in the sound
Love will be born again

This is more than surviving, we should be thriving,
Till' we reach the horizonHEY

(Hey)Every chapter is a part of the story with an unwritten ending

So we open our eyes to have faith without all the pretending

Cause' in a life without passion
there's no world to stand on
So we live for the moment

I'll spare it, forever ascendingSo gather your thoughts, prepare for this war,
The truth is your armourSinging fight for your soul, don't let it go
And never hold it back

Love till' they know, run just to show we're never
holding back

The sun will go down, we're lost in the sound
Love will be born again

This is more than surviving, we should be thriving,
Till' we reach the horizonHEY

(hey)
HEY

(hey)This is the sound of our existence, and it's in our soul

It may be dreams of resurrection, but until we know,
We look to the horizon, horizon, horizon, horizonSinging fight for your soul, don't let it go
And never hold it back

Love till' they know, run just to show we're never holding back
The sun will go down, we're lost in the sound
Love will be born again
This is more than surviving, we should be thriving,
Till' we reach the horizonHEY
(hey)

Lyrics provided by <https://damnlrics.com/>