To Rest in Silence

Suidakra

[Music & Lyrics by Suidakra]Fear his words creating worlds for now and ever a living memoryHolding the crown he reigns all alone one man, one will but no destinyStraight through the memories of woe into the fields of buried glee here the wilting dreams below source and ending of this storyFall down to your knees to adore the lie Fill the power and right to reign in violence time and failure have sharpened our mind disarmed and voiceless it finally has to rest in silenceHear the tales of thousands and one death of revange and wreath see the veils which cover our mind silently making us blindSilentium est aurum step back to where it once began silentium est aurum the adornment in our requiemSo die in lies...He`s creeping through the dephts of living holding out until the end no remorse and no forgiving all he learned is to pretend
