Turntable

Grace Potter And The Nocturnals

I used to walk around like nothing could happen to me
Life is a gamble so I should live life more carefully
But all I know is that I control my own destiny
I used to look at others instead of me blaming me
Don?t ask yourself why just look to the sky
Believe that soon you?ll see the other side
I know that through all the struggle
There?s a bright road at the end of the tunnel
Now you should know whatever your dilemma
Maybe you?ll learn, life is worth it, watch the tables turn
Yeah, yeah, yeah, yeah
Whenever you feel troubled with problems coming your way
Don?t ever get discouraged, there?s always a better day
We all don?t know the answers, believe and trust when I say
That havin' faith is always the way to make things okay
Don?t ask yourself why just look to the sky
Believe that soon you?ll see the other side
I know that through all the struggle
There?s a bright road at the end of the tunnel

Now you should know whatever your dilemma
Maybe you?ll learn, life is worth it, watch the tables turn
That?s right, alright
You've had your ups and downs and it happened for a reason
'Cause after April showers there will come a change of season
So please don?t give up now 'cuz the sun's shinin' through the clouds
It?s gonna be alright, 'cause I know
I know that through all the struggle
There?s a bright road at the end of the tunnel
Now you should know whatever your dilemma
Maybe you?ll learn, life is worth it, watch the tables turn
I know that through all the struggle
There?s a bright road at the end of the tunnel
Now you should know whatever your dilemma
Maybe you?ll learn, life is worth it, watch the tables turn
Watch the tables turn
Watch the tables turn
Watch the tables turn
...

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/