

Running Through the Garden

Fleetwood Mac

Until she herself
Became the deadliest poison
As she grew older
Oh, until she herself
Became just as fatal
As was her garden And so you run towards
What you know is wrong
There are too many flowers to cut down
For the love I have for your life
For the love I have for your life
Turn around Never did I mean to
Imprison you
Here in my garden
Like I am in prison
For the love I have for your life
For the love I have for your life
Turn around Until she herself
Understood her garden
Leaving her heart broken
No future at all
Until she's herself
Became the toxic garden
Always frightened
No future at all And so you run towards
For what you know is wrong
There are too many flowers to cut down
For the love I have for your life
For the love I have for your life
Turn around Never did I mean to
Imprison you
Here in my garden
Like I am in prison
For the love I have for your life
For the love I have for your life
Turn around So you run towards
What you know is wrong
But there are too many flowers to cut down
For the love I have for your life
For the love I have for your life

Turn aroundRunning through the garden
I'm running in brilliant colors
I'm running straight towards, straight towards
What you know is really wrong
Too many flowers
Here to cut down
For the love I have for your life
Turn aroundFor the love I have for your life
For the love I have for your life
For the love I have for your life

Songwriters

NICHOLSON, GARY / NICKS, STEVIE / KENNEDY, RAYPublished by Lyrics Â© Sony/ATV Music Publishing LLC

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>