

Billy

Oh Susanna

Billy came from the east
You came from the sea
Came with a heart full of hope
And a head full of dreamsI danced in your arms
And then in your arms I did sleep
And you promised me
Never would I ever weepWake up, Billy my love
I'm goin' away
I can't stand to see you
Dyin' this wayYour dreams aren't your own, now
They belong to the habit you keep
They belong to the needle
The serum, the sleepBilly, a letter that came
Said you passed away
Arms so shot full of holes
No life they could holdI'll cut off your limbs
And bury your body at sea
And leave your arms on the shore
For the buzzards to eatBilly, you came from the east
You came from the sea
Came with a heart full of hope
And a head full of dreamsGo rest in peace, now
On the bed of the ocean you'll sleep
And you never will wake
And forever I'll weep

Songwriters

Suzanne Ungerleider;John Donovan BazilPublished by

NETTWERK TUNES Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by
<https://damnlrics.com/>