Stone

Downhere

So much for fame and things you can lose
So much for substitutes
So much for the strain of playing a game
Where champions always lose everythingI won't treat Your love
Like an adolescent fling
'Cause when everyone's gone
You're the only one who staysAnd I'd rather be Your stone
Than light up another's sky
I'd rather be Your stone
'Cause all Your stones become Your diamonds, diamondsYou gave me a name I could never gain
With even my college try
Convinced by Your touch, it was more than enough
I'm leaving old treasures in the dust'Cause I found this pearl
I'd give everything to have, I have itI'd rather be Your stone
Than light up another's sky
I'd rather be Your stone
'Cause all Your stones become Your diamonds, yeah, yeahOut of darkest deep, You dig me up
And You crush me and You lift me upAnd to give You thanks
I can only love You moreI'd rather be Your stone
Than light up another's sky
I'd rather be Your stone
'Cause all Your stones become Your diamonds
Become Your diamonds
